

Meet Anne

Anne Crothers, M. Ed.
Full-time clinician at
Healing Works

Anne Crothers, M. Ed. has a BA in Psychology from Moravian College, and an M. Ed. in Social Restoration from Lehigh University.

Anne has a gift with children and teens. She loves working with divorced families who are motivated to end “the war”. She is an expert in sexual abuse and trauma.

Therapy with adults is often a journey to the past to uncover feelings and issues that were never resolved. Anne prefers working with those who are ready for this work. She often partners with other clinicians for specialized services.

Treatment Services

Healing Works offers psychotherapy for children, teens, adults and families for many issues including divorce, abuse, and depression.

We have a spiritual focus, believing that a relationship with a Higher Power is important for healing.

We use many different approaches in order to celebrate individual strengths. These include:

- Art therapy
- Play therapy
- Sand Tray Therapy
- Workbooks/poetry
- Action techniques

Preparing for therapy requires lots of self care and lots of support from others.

- Sleep 8 hours each night
- Eat 3 healthy meals each day
- Make time to have fun
- Make plans with loved ones
- Make time for yourself
- Spend time with nature
- Have faith in a Higher Power

Interventions

We also offer interventions for addiction and compulsive behaviors. Our Family Transformational Intervention is a 2 day invitational intervention that does not ambush or shame anyone. We believe the whole family needs help and support. Our goal is long-term recovery for the whole family.

Special Events

We offer special events throughout the year including retreats, workshops, special groups and other events. See our website for more information.

We also offer professional workshops for therapists with CEUs, and a free monthly peer supervision.
